

Sausalito People

Spring 2014 Program Series

Free programs held after-hours at the Sausalito Public Library
420 Litho Street, Sausalito

Friday, March 14 at 7pm

John Kehoe: A World of Chocolate

As the Vice President of Sourcing and Development for TCHO in San Francisco, John Kehoe works with cocoa farmers around the world to grow high quality cocoa beans and develop sustainable agricultural methods. In his talk, John will share stories from a career spent promoting sustainable, fair trade cacao production in the name of delicious chocolate. Chocolate samples included! John lives in the Caledonia Street neighborhood of Sausalito.

Friday, March 21 at 7pm

Robert Haley: A Zero Waste Future

The City of San Francisco is a global leader in recycling and waste management, with a goal of "zero waste" (i.e. no use of landfill) by 2020. Where San Francisco leads, Sausalito is likely to follow. What does a zero waste future mean for Sausalitans? What milestones lie on the road to zero waste? Join Sausalito resident and San Francisco Zero Waste Manager Robert Haley for a fascinating look at the future of "garbage."

Friday, March 28 at 7pm

Al Sybrian: The Sea Lion and the Sculptor

Co-sponsored by the Sausalito Historical Society

His iconic sea lion sculpture on the Sausalito waterfront has been photographed by thousands of tourists and is enjoyed daily by residents, but most people know nothing about the artist, longtime Sausalito resident Al Sybrian (1924–2007). For this special presentation, co-creators Bill Kirsch and Terrence Clark will discuss their new book about Sybrian, The Sea Lion and the Sculptor, and give an in-depth look at this celebrated but relatively unknown artist. After the talk, guests are invited upstairs to the Sausalito Historical Society Exhibit Room for refreshments and a special exhibit of Sybrian's work -- most never seen before.

Friday, April 4 at 7pm

Lea Gulino: Tales from the Booth

Lea Gulino has performed on stage in New York and on camera in Los Angeles but it wasn't until she moved to Sausalito that she discovered the world of Voice Over. Voice acting opportunities in the Bay Area are diverse and Lea has recorded everything from commercial spots to videogames to voice recognition systems. Join us as she divulges secrets from the booth, tests our knowledge of voices we hear every day, and shares how technology allowed her to set up recording sessions with clients all over the world from her wooden boat in Sausalito.

Friday, April 11 at 7pm

Terri Thomas: Nature in Your Backyard

Sausalito resident Terri Thomas has worked as an ecologist for Golden Gate National Recreation Area for the past twenty years and currently serves as the Director of Conservation, Stewardship and Research at the Presidio Trust. Her work ranges from habitat restoration, to safeguarding endangered species, to ensuring that the coyotes that have recently found their way back to the Presidio don't cause too much trouble. In her talk, Terri will share stories and discuss the challenges facing Bay Area ecosystems. Terri lives on a houseboat on Richardson's Bay.